Pricing for profit

Jack and Megan plan to make wooden toys to sell at the school fair.

The money they raise will go to charity.

They will use offcuts of wood that they have been given for free.

Megan and Jack also plan to make Anzac Biscuits to sell at the school fair.

The money they raise will also go to charity.

They will use ingredients that they have been given for free.

- How much should they charge for each animal and pack of biscuits to make the biggest profit?
